—Same Two Opposed Each
Other in 1919.

Henry C. Klein, ex-fire chief, will again make the race for election as mayor opposing the present incumbent, T. E. Welsh, for the second time in two years.

"I shall be a candidate but will make no formal announcement until Saturday," said Mr. Klein today when interviewed at his battery shop, 418 West Milwaukee street. "I will announce my platform at that time."

In answer to the remark that, "It looks like another hot campaign," Mr. Klein said:

"Yes, it will probably be warm but there will be no mudslinging on my part. My campaign will be fair and square and if I am fortunate or unfortunate enough to be elected, I will be fair and impartial to everyone."

"I am not airing any grievances. In fact I was the first man to conciliate my opponent (Mr. Welsh) when he was elected two years ago."

"There are two or three other likely candidates, I think," Klein said, "but they are in abeyance. He thinks that two of them will not be candidates if he enters the race."

Mayor Welsh made no announcement last Monday that he would seek re-election.

Keep "Scab Milk"
Out of Chicago
Farmers' Demand

The fact that the farmers of Rock county who are members of the Milk Producers' association received an average price of $3.16 and two thirds cents per 100 pounds for their milk during 1920, more than $1 higher than others not in the association, should be convincing enough to the farmers to stick in the organization, was the statement made by J. B. Spratling, president of the Janesville club, at the monthly meeting held yesterday at West Side Old Folks' hall.

More than 75 farmers attended. Considerable discussion took place over the handling of skimmed milk by the truckers in the county. It was disclosed that although the farmers had a considerable cut in the price of milk, the same price of 20 cents per hundred is being paid for skimmed milk. Truckers have agreed to return the skimmed milk to the farmers free of charge but none have refused.

J. S. Kellogg and S. J. Riester, secretary of the Janesville local made reports on the annual meeting at Chicago. A movement to keep the "scab milk" going from Wisconsin for sale in Chicago was spoken of by Mr. Riester who said, "the milk dealers will depend on the Milk Producers in keeping the sale of scab milk out of Chicago as they will only milk from the members of the association."

The work of the Ladies' auxiliaries of the Producers' association, the first of which was organized in Walworth county and the prosperity of the club in 1920 was spoken of by Mr. Kellogg. A delegation will go to Beloit Friday to attend the county meeting at the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Bryan said he had not known the definite date for the launching of the movement had been set as announced by Judge Roper.

Establishments of Direct Marketing Advocated by Gustafson.

Flight of Draft Dodger to Germany Known Early in October.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Feb. 10.—Establishment of direct marketing between farmers and producers' organizations and city consumers' organizations and co-operative banking institutions advocated by farmers' organizations and labor organizations was told today by Charles D. McAvoy, district attorney of the Illinois Central.

Mr. McAvoy said he received this information through confidential sources early in October and immediately communicated it to Attorney General Palmer, recommending that O'Connor, one of the department's investigators, be sent to Germany. He added that this was not done because of possible international complications.

The witness declared Bergdolt lied when he stated in Germany that Gibbons was to use the $165,000 to bribe somebody in the war department. He said, "and they must understand each other if they are going to be able to free themselves from the stranglehold which financial and other big interests now have on them."

He declared it would be impossible for other farmers or labor to accomplish anything until they can finance co-operative projects. His association could be brought about through ownership of co-operative banks. He said legislation would be sought permitting co-operative banking in many states.

Warren Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers declared:

"We are facing a crisis more critical than any we have faced during the year. The promotion of co-operative buying and selling between producers and consumers should be declared, would do more than anything else to solve the unrest."

RAIL LABOR MEN

SUDDEN DECISION GIVEN BY FEDERAL BOARD
IN CHICAGO.

JEWELL SPEAKS

Charges Conspiracy Against Unions; Scores Atterbury.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Feb. 10.—The federal railroad labor board today denied the request of the American Association of Railroads executives for immediate abrogation of existing wage agreements with the brotherhoods and establishment of a new basic rate for unskilled labor predicated on local conditions.

The decision came before B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, had started his reply to the statement made to the railway executives last week by W. W. Atterbury of the Pennsylvania railroad. It was totally unexpected.

Changes Conspiracy.

Conspiracy by American railroad executives and financiers to destroy the organizations of railroad workers and reestablish autocratic financial control of the transportation industry was charged by Atterbury in a report filed without reading.

He asserted last week's statement to the board by W. W. Atterbury, chairman of the labor committee of the American Association of Railways executives, was designed to "stampede the board into a position which mature consideration would prove to be indefensible."

Jameson on Unions.

He added that Mr. Atterbury also attempted to "falsely convince the public that high rates due to financial irregularities and inefficiencies of railroad management are attributable to the unions of railroad workers, and to obtain a weapon from which to exact from the government full payment of the exorbitant claims which the railroads are making, and to exact from the railroads a stamping of unscrupulous management and concealment."

Proposes Content Plant

Brecken, Ill.—A state normal school, Brecken, Illinois, a cost of $75,000 is proposed in a bill introduced by Assemblyman Grandine.

Assemblyman Sachsen presented a resolution asking appointment of a committee to investigate the possibility of erecting a state-owned cement plant to manufacture cement for highway work.

The senate on a vote of 15 to 12 concurred in the assembly's resolution.

The Senate voted to pass the bill to the House, which passed it.

Bill Regulates Brokers

Senator Jennings introduced a bill regulating bond selling agencies and recruiting brokers. His bill set a limit of 10 per cent as the highest interest rate that could be charged on loans made in the state.

Legislative Interrogation of the railroad commission for its activities in raising rates and reducing services will be held in the result of a petition of 18 members of the assembly, introduced this morning by Assemblyman F. J. Peterson, Milwaukee.

Assemblyman Peterson explained the action was taken because the railroad commission recently authorized the Milwaukee Gas Company to increase its existing units in gas furnished that city and then authorized a 20 per cent increase in the price of the weakened gas.

COLBY REFUSES TO GIVE OVER JAP PACT

Washington, Feb. 10.—Secretary Colby refused today to transmit to the Senate foreign relations committee information regarding negotiations with Japan looking to the framing of a new treaty to meet the situation created by the adoption of the California anti-alien law.

Under existing Wisconsin law, any person who shall keep open his shop, warehouse or workshop, or shall do any manner of business, or shall be engaged in any occupation, or be present at any dance, or public division, show or entertainment, or take part in any sport, game, or play on the first day of the month shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars.

This law was enacted in 1849 and appears in all the revisions of the statutes up to 1898 without modification. Beginning with 1900 several changes were made to the law which made it more stringent.

In this year it was made unlawful to keep open a barber shop on Sunday. The following legislature of 1911 extended the law to dry goods stores, hardware, furniture, crackeryware, glassware, jewelry, coffee, tea and spice dealing stores. In 1913 this provision was extended to cover groceries and meats.

The law provides that running of railroads, rail cars, street cars, turnpike roads, can be deemed a work of necessity and charity. Boxing and racing matches are expressly prohibited on the Sabbath.

"Strengthening" of Mulberger
Law Is Advocated in Legislature.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Feb. 10.—"Strengthening" of the Mulberger prohibition law, as advocated in the platform of Wisconsin republicans last fall, rests today with the assembly committee on state affairs, which yesterday spent four hours hearing the arguments of wets and dries. The committee meets this afternoon to decide whether or not the prohibition bill presented by Assemblyman A. E. Matheson, Janesville, shall be recommended for passage. A year of constitutional prohibition apparently has not diminished the ardor of the Wisconsin delegation, which is marked by the flag waving, singing, cheering and hissing of the days when the eighteenth amendment was still a dream and the Volstead act unwillingly born.

The opponents of the strengthening bill, led by Ralph Jackman, Madison, former of Janesville, and W. E. Austin, Milwaukee, attorneys for the brewing association, contend that the bill, as introduced by Mr. Matheson, shall be recommended for passage. CANCELLING DEBTS OF OTHER NATIONS

Some Mixed-up Financial Transactions Involving Several Billion Dollars.

By DAVID LAWRENCE, Washington, Feb. 10.—Congress and the treasury department are still on the question of cancelling foreign debts and making other loans to European governments. This treasury never had the modest idea of cancelling the present war debt but the necessity of advancing $75,000,000 more is really the puzzling factor in the situation.

Both the treasury and congress mean the same thing and probably have the same idea in what constitutes a "commitment" to advance money but the testimony thus far taken indicates that all is not clear on the question of making further loans.

The tangle can all be set down as the result of book-keeping and unadjusted contracts growing out of the war. Many people have the idea that the treasury department forced many countries to pay out cash as it was money but to pay out cash as it was money but that the allies would purchase most of their goods in the United States. Thus the allies got many millions of dollars from the treasury which never went to Europe but went directly to American manufacturers and their workers. In transactions with the allies amounting to over one billion dollars, something like seventy-five million, a relatively small sum, hangs over as paid by the treasury. It is not a new indebtedness. Strictly speaking, if the bookkeepers of our war department and the bookkeepers of the allied governments could be gathered together and their books on the day after the armistice, the total amount of money which would have been paid and America's promise would have been kept.

But delayed negotiations over war contracts and a thousand and one other tangles which have arisen since war about war contracts have made it impossible to tell just how much money must be paid out. It will not be in excess of seventy-five million dollars.

Now if Senator Root's bill should go through, and it may pass unless congress and the treasury get closer together, the American government would be in a position of repudiating an obligation as Secretary Houston terms it, "a commitment." As international finance goes, seventy-five million is a small sum but if America repudiates it, then the allies might accept the American action as a precedent and consider that it could enter into some other debts entered into in more or less the same way.

Moreover, our officials point out that America cannot afford to go back on her promise and that the seventy-five million dollars is part of a commitment made during the war.

As to Cancellation

The outburst in cables resulted from course of the news ended from England that Great Britain had informedly proposed a cancellation of war debts. There is an anti-British element in the American senate which never fails to make an attack on any policy that appears to have a benefit for Great Britain concealed in it. Some of the senators believed that approximately five million were due owing to Great Britain but that is not true. The treasury has not disclosed which government is involved but it is stated officially that no more money has been paid or is due Great Britain.

Another misunderstanding has arisen too, over the loans to Russia. Some newspaper accounts have given the erroneous impression that at the fall of the Kerensky government, the United States paid out $200,000 of her own money to one of the representatives of the succeeding Russian regime. The fact is that when the Kerensky government fell, the liabilities of Russia were in the neighborhood of one hundred millions of dollars while her assets were about fifty-six millions. The United States government prevailed upon the bank which had the money—$200,000 not to pay out any of that money if the department of state or treasury imposed any obligation. It came about that several American contractors were owed money by the Russian government. Had the navy department insisted upon preventing any payment, the Russian money from being paid out, several American firms would have gone bankrupt. Instead the treasury expressed "no objection" when the bank which handled Russian paid upwards of $200,000 to certain American firms who had sold their goods to Russia prior to the fall of the Kerensky government; it was $200,000 of Russian assets that were paid out and not money out of the American treasury.

Our "Debt" to Russia

There is much that is puzzling about American indebtedness to Russia but careful study of the record shows that the admittance of credits was largely a case of protection for American firms that had shipped their goods to the European governments. It was natural, under the circumstances, however, that Congress should be surprised that American obligations were not yet paid as the details of International finance are not easily grasped. At this point, Gen. Pershing told a story last night at the National Press Club which well illustrates why Congress bestirred itself over new loans.

"An American doughboy," said Gen. Pershing, "was on leave in Paris. He stood reverently before the tomb of Lafayette for several minutes. Then he said, 'Lafayette, we have paid our debt; who the hell else do we owe now?'

At the State Capital

For ASSOCIATED PRESS, Madison, Wis., Feb. 10.—An unofficial council of the legislative organization to promote farm and labor legislation has grown out of the group of LaFollette progressives in the assembly three weeks ago. The council, with Assemblyman John L. Dahl of Marion county as chairman, is meeting each evening for consideration of legislative matters.

A move has been made to have the organization include all members of the lower house, without regard to factional lines, in order that the big problems of the session might be thrashed out at the door. There have been as many as 55 members present at some of the meetings.

The message has been prepared for several days, but Governor Blaine has not been able to find time to sign it. The bill, which presented him with other difficulties, was introduced by Senator Conant yesterday introduced a resolution setting a date this week for joint consideration of the taxation measures, but it was withdrawn.

The move of Senator Burke represents the crystallization of the growing sentiment in Wisconsin that the powers of the state are seriously being drawn away by gradual extension of the federal authority through legislative enactment and executive and departmental orders.

Senators Arnold, Milwaukee, introduced his income tax bill, the most drastic tax measure of the session which he claims will raise $26,000,000 revenue annually. Under its provisions, exemptions would be raised to $1,600 for individuals, $2,500 for husband and wife, and $400 for each child, double the present exemption rate.

The first $1,000 of taxable income would be assessed one per cent, with a graduated rate of one per cent for each additional $1,000 up to $10,000 to $200,000 would be taxed 22 per cent. All incomes of over $200,000 would be taxed 50 per cent. Distribution of the revenue derived from the tax would be made between state, county and city, with 25 per cent to municipalities from which the tax was raised.

Reorganization of the state board of education and university and normal regents boards will not be considered by the state committee on education until other educational bills not being prepared are ready for presentation. The committee yesterday decided to hold Senator Titus' reorganization bill in abeyance.

whether they should be included in the state board from 10 to 14 members, increased by 4 additional members at large, and increasing the normal regents from 10 to 15, stipulating that each trimmable item from their capital accounts.

A move to have Wisconsin take the initiative in restoring to states of the nation the rights lost through concentration of power in the central government was made by the governor. It had put appointees of the governor, attorney general and commissioner of agriculture.

Sen. Bennett's proposal to enforce the Wisconsin state court law by putting the same on its circuit court calendar was held over by the state judiciary committee. Senator Czernwinski's bill to raise the income tax exemption from $200 to $400 for each child and other dependent was recommended for passage, as was Senator Lange's bill to create a municipal court for Eau Claire county.

The corporations committee approved Senator Morris' bill to expand all school officials and employees in cities of the first class to civil service rules except as made by the department, but indefinitely postponed his bill to raise the trade tax school levy and the tax for purchase of new school lands in such cities.

Senator Czernwinski's bill to give Premier Brundage a vote of confidence preparatory to his departure for the London conference on reparations.

TEACH TAXES IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Income Assessor F. A. Taylor Urges Need of Training.

Taxation matters should be taught in the public schools and institutions of learning," declared F. A. Taylor, supervisor of assessments for Rock county in a statement made today. "I dare say the average graduate from the school system here and elsewhere in this state, cannot give a comprehensive explanation of the taxation system."

"The very schools in which the students attain their education are built and maintained by taxes," continued Assessor Taylor. "If it were not for taxes you might as well plow up the ground the schools are built on. The student should know the methods of taxation, the system employed in the state and duties of the tax commission."

Income Tax Important. "The state income tax continues to be the principal method of taxation. The foundation of taxation is the spread of taxes so that everyone assumes a burden in the government under which he lives. The tendency to exempt all people from taxation, even those reasonably well-to-do, is not right or in accordance with good government. The equal spread of taxation among all people is accomplished through the state income tax with a reasonable exemption."

Education Needed. "There is no question but what people should be educated more on matters of taxes. They are the foundation of government, city, state and nation. Therefore, I would like to see more attention paid to them in the school system," continued Mr. Taylor.

"Taxes are something in which every person is bound to be interested. To my mind taxes and tax systems are a great deal more important than ancient history or dead languages. For every graduate might come in contact with the taxation system sometime. It is surprising how meager the general information is about taxation," it was said.

Overshadowing Incomes. The assessor declared many people are "innocently overlooking taxable income." Failure to thoroughly understand exemption provisions and what constitutes "income" are declared, would overlook some of the present evils of the system.

"If taxes were taught in the schools, the youths could tell their parents in making returns and estimating taxes, declares the assessor. "Right down to cold facts, the schools could not exist without taxes, yet there is very little taught about taxation. Taxes should be a point of education."

GIRLS LISTEN TO DEBATE ON WHO IS ONE TO PROPOSE

Eighty 15-year-old girls enjoyed supper and the varied program presented at the meeting of the Business Girls Club last evening at the Methodist church.

It was a Valentine party with a mock wedding as one of the features. Mrs. Fritz and Helen Atkinson were the bride and groom. A debate on the question, "Shall women propose although it is not leap year," was put on with the negative taken by Mrs. Morris Hansen, the alternative by Mrs. Lyle Beard. The judge was Cora Wilhelmy. Miss Helen Atkinson was the poetic author of the skit.

Mrs. J. Foster gave a piano solo; Miss Margaret McCulloch sang a group of songs; Cecil Brightman played violin solo, and there was community singing led by Miss Mabel Snyder. Orchestra music during the supper was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stolner and Mr. E. C. Lewis and the evening closed with a suffragette parade led by Mrs. Charles Beck.

Miss Ruth Jeffris outlined briefly the plans of the Y. W. C. A. supported by a talk from Mrs. F. E. Lewis. Miss Fanny Bennett, missionary to India for 15 years, was honored guest. Miss Alice Clinton presided.

The club is in charge of a committee consisting of Misses Catherine Ketcham, Mrs. Shuler, Alice Vincent, Alice Johnson, Florence Nuzum, Ruth Price, with Miss Lucilla Lake as treasurer and Eva Townsend as secretary.

Those who prepared the menu were from Group 4 of the Y. W. C. A., Misses George Miller, George Webber, Charles Gleason and Paul Ehrlinger. Those in charge of the dining room were Mrs. George Woodward, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Gilbert Sylvester and the Misses Jessie Carson, Florence Webber, Mary Want, Marion Dewey, Mabel Webber and Tena Went.

WOMEN PREPARE FOR GREAT CONVENTION

Plans were made for the annual meeting of the district convention of women's clubs at a meeting of the board yesterday at the home of Mrs. C. E. Crossley, at Milton. The convention will be held at Winona, sometime during April and is expected that Mrs. Thomas Thompson, Minneapolis, the general president of the national federation, will give an address. It is expected Mrs. J. Chandrase, the state president, will also give an address. The convention will be held two days and other speakers of note will also appear on the program.

Those who attended the board meeting were Mrs. C. E. Colby and Mrs. W. Green, both of Evansville; Mrs. F. E. Anderson, Edgerton; Mrs. W. C. Whifford, Milton; Mrs. J. Fectors, Mrs. W. 3 AVIATORS KILLED NEAR LA CROSSE

An altitude of 2,000 feet preparatory to landing. The plane circled toward the north, dropping to about 700 feet.

Explosion Rents Air

What directly over Clinton Inn, a road house two miles from town and half a mile from State field, there was an explosion, which rent the air immediately followed by a second explosion. The machine burst into flames and went into a nose dive, crashing to earth within a few feet of the inn.

Herbert Carlson, in charge of the local landing field, who was watching the circling plane, rushed to the scene in an automobile, reaching spot within five minutes, but all three men were dead.

Was New Type

Carlson said the plane was of a type new to the Chicago-Twin cities route and was of the closed or cabin type used in the service between Chicago and Omaha. It was larger than those that have been used heretofore on this route.

The wrecked machine was an all-metal German job, with enclosed cockpit from which escape through the hull不可能. It contained a Morane-Saulnier engine, three planes burned.

Official service says planes burned personnel, but have been converted by the United States government into "dead-line-burning" motors. Other planes have caused previous accidents with this type of machine.

METAL MONOPLANES CAUSE 7 FATALITIES

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Officials of the air mail service at the Chicago headquarters today were again confronted with the problem of overcoming defects in the all-metal machines as a result of the tragic death of 3 mail flyers in the J. E. Brown monoplane at La Crosse, last night.

The tragedy brings the total number of deaths attributed to defective machines to 7 within the few months. The metal monoplanes have been in the mail service. The plane which burst into flames at La Crosse was the sixth to crash.

Fault Corrected

Until recently the monoplanes were withdrawn because a fault in engine construction which caused four deaths soon after the machines were adopted last summer. It was found a metal tube connecting the gasoline tank and the carburetor loosened under vibration and caused a leak of gas in the fuselage. A spark from the electrical circuit would explode the accumulation of gas. It was thought using a rubber tube in place of the metal connection would eliminate further danger. Officials said today immediate investigation of the accident would be made.

SCOUT THEORY OF EXPLOSION IN MIDWAY

La Crosse, Feb. 10.—C. F. Berg, superintendent of the Chicago-Twin City air mail service, and Mr. Moore, assistant superintendent of Chicago, who are in La Crosse, today scour the area to find out what caused the explosion in the mail plane.

The theory of lost control, said Berg, "is borne out by the testimony of the men at the field here. They say the plane came over under perfect control at an altitude of 2,000 feet. They remarked at the time the engine was altitude, and special attention to the engine because it was the first Mercedes ever to land here. There was certainly no engine trouble. It was Rowe's system to slide into a field and undoubtedly that was what he was doing when he lost control."

Berg said that "slipping" means maneuvering the ship so it will glide in sideways. It is the effective way to decrease altitude quickly.

Positive proof of the theory was given by several witnesses of hearing a loud explosion at the time the ship fell, and there is also the testimony of Mayor Straub, of Lomira, who says that Carroll told him they were having engine trouble.

FAIRBANKS-MORSE PLANT SHUTS DOWN

Work in All Departments Ends Due to Overproduction, Say Officials.

(Special to Gazette)

Beloit, Feb. 10.—A temporary shutdown of all departments of the Fairbanks-Morse company for an indefinite period was made public yesterday by W. S. Moevy, vice president.

"Our product in the Beloit plant," said Mr. Moevy, "is largely for agricultural trade and municipal plants and accompanying low quotations for wheat, corn and other grain crops above has been a decided stamp in the agricultural business. Municipalities were meeting with difficulty in floated their bonds, which could only be sold at a high price, with a consequent result of very little activity in this field."

"It is a great disappointment for us to have to close our doors after struggling hard to bridge this period of readjustment, but our buyers all over the country are filled with finished products in excess of our sales. The doors of our factory will be opened just as soon as possible."

EMPLOYEES SEEK TO GET COMPENSATION

Industrial Commission Members Here to Hold Two Days' Hearings.

Hearings were conducted here today by the state industrial commission of cases arising under the workmen's compensation act. The hearings will be continued in the municipal courtroom at the city hall all day tomorrow.

Five cases were scheduled to be heard today. Three of these came up this morning, the commission taking testimony and withholding decisions until later.

John C. Nichols, Sheboygan, former mayor of Janesville, was one of the chief witnesses called in the case of Mrs. Walsh vs. John C. Nichols Harness Manufacturing company. In this case, Mrs. Walsh seeks compensation for the death of her husband killed by a train near Oshkosh, July 13, 1920.

Attack Firm Protests!

Mrs. Walsh was an employee of the Nichols company at that time and had been for five years. She was a saleswoman covering the eastern part of the state. Attorney Rice appeared for the insurance company with whom Mr. Nichols holds a policy covering injury to his employees.

The insurance company seeks to show that Mrs. Walsh was carrying a side gun and was possibly not in the actual employ of Nichols at the time of the tragedy near Oshkosh. Mr. Nichols paid all medical expenses, it was brought out. Mrs. Walsh also testified.

Hurt His Foot.

Only a small amount of testimony was taken in the case of Ben Thompson vs. J. P. Cullen Construction company. Thompson injured his foot when a cement bucket fell on it and he seeks to show permanent disability. Another hearing may be held on this at Madison.

In third case, John T. Ritter vs. Modern Housing corporation, was heard this morning. Ritter, a carpenter, suffered bruises, lacerations and contusions when he fell 10 feet off the porch of a new house August 15, 1920. He seeks to show permanent disability in his back and left leg pain him at times and his walking is impaired.

Doctors' Testifies.

Dr. T. J. Schneider, attending physician, testified. Ritter said he was laid up for 12 days, went back to work for four days when he was laid off, later going to work for Wills & Deason. When finishing with this firm he went to selling insurance, he said. The Modern Housing corporation paid his medical bill of $60 which was brought out.

The case of Mrs. E. Pufahl vs. Janesville Country club was first on the afternoon calendar.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS OF DEFINITE PLAN FOR FUTURE WORK

An objective for the Kiwanis club in the way of civic betterment or in aid of Janesville was discussed at the noonday luncheon of the club at the Grand hotel yesterday. Henry Solomon was the leader. The club is now almost in a place where it will receive its charter from the international body and it has been definitely organized. Leaders for the programs for another month were appointed by President George Jacobs this noon.

Members are to give five minute speeches about the business in which they are engaged. Lee Atwood was the first speaker coming at the head of the alphabet and he talked of the lumber business and the three branches of service of the Fifield Lumber Co.

Stephen Belles spoke of the necessity of having definite objectives and suggested getting behind the plan for park and recreation grounds and buying the city planning commission in securing the necessary lands for the beautifying of the river banks.

ABOUT THE BILL FOR MOTOR INSTALLATION

T. H. Hansen of Hansen & Harper of the Electric Shop, stated the bill to be introduced by the Board of Education Monday night was for much more than the installation of a motor, but was to cover that and the following items: "Manufacturing old pulley, blacksmith charges for iron brackets fee speed controller and resistance supports, charges for motor inspection before purchase by the Board of Education, labor and materials, a 50-hp. pulley for the main drive shaft and also the removal of the old wires and the installation of an entire new power service, including the necessary switches, fuses and control apparatus."

The Electric Shop owners object to the statement that the bill held over by the board for investigation was for installation only as it included a lot of other work.

CO-OP. COMPANY REDEEMS STOCK

Redemption of membership sold here in the Cooperative Society of America, a Chicago company, declared by the attorney general to have been operating illegally in this state, was started by the local representatives Wednesday. All securities sold here will be taken back and the purchasers refunded their money by about 5 o'clock tonight according to P. H. Shanahan, in charge of the concern's office here.

"We are trying to be on the square," said Mr. Shanahan this afternoon. "The statement published yesterday that we sold memberships here after we knew of the arrests at Detroit, is incorrect. We stopped selling as soon as we learned that we could not sell our memberships in this state."

Employment of an attorney will be made, according to Mr. Shanahan. All selling operations of the securities salesmen ceased when they heard of the arrests of their co-workers. It was aggravated at their office today.

WRONG TIME.

Miss Agnes Tracey who entertained Tuesday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert Buggs, 512 South Academy street, says lunch was served at 10:30 o'clock and not at 2:30 o'clock as was stated yesterday.

The market on butter remains the same, 47 cents per dozen, while the retail price in this city is from 42 to 45 cents. Chicago merchants and those interested in the market declare the drop is due to the over-flowing the market. Hens, which usually start laying the latter part of March are laying now due to the warm weather.

The market on butter remains the same, 47 cents per dozen, while the retail price in this city is from 42 to 45 cents.

The drop continues in the grain market, also, the top on barley last week at $1.35, a drop of 10 cents. Oats, which brought from 35 to 40 cents a bushel, are now bring only from 30 to 35 cents.

Most of the changes in the local livestock market were down, the top on hogs standing at $8.50 instead of $9. Canners bring all the way from one to two cents per pound, where the top was 2¢. Other changes were noted.

Hens remain the same, 17 to 22 cents through the market want $2. Open in Chicago, due to the fact that the farmers are not selling the chickens which are now laying. The complete market list with the changes made is on the market page.

Voice of the People

Editor Gazette:

I have thoroughly read and digested every word in the Voice of the People Column the last several nights. The letters written by ex-soldiers and a "Gold Star Mother" respecting to aid Germany, the country we fought to free them of autocracy and help to put democracy. I thought General Wilson was a real Christian for humanity and with such a feeling in his heart and left his walking impaired.

The people of Germany are our people to help as well as France and England and others are. Why should we neglect their cry: "Come and help us." We, a nation all brothers and sisters, cousins and friends, to them. Do we not call ourselves a Christian nation? I say yes, we ought to be it. Well then, our Saviour asks us to forgive our enemies. Shall we not forgive? Yes indeed, let us forgive, and help where we can. Of course we must not neglect our own at home, but may say we ought to have no one starving and suffering much, as everyone the last few years earned high wages. Everyone should lay up for the rainy days but the American people don't think long savings.

It takes the German people to do this and it is because they are such good workers, smart and wise to save and accumulate wealth and were doing great business all over the world, had a good ruler, kept peace for over 40 years they prospered. Then the countries surrounding them got jealous and among them and war began. The tale of the last war was jealous and money making and why shall the innocent children suffer?

And another thing! Why be down on the Germans? America would not be the blessed, prosperous nation it is today if it were not for the German people. Our old German pictures swing the axe, handled the grubbs, cleared the land, fought the Indians, and became our ex-soldiers and of it. I believe God put all these people in the world and we should love them all, whether Jew, Turk or Hottentot, they all have a soul and feeling. I don't think they are living extravagant in Berlin now and lavish on their ex-kaiser as the Gold Star Mother says. I would such a hard heart against any child.

Germany is not the blame of our present conditions, with so many idle. It's generally that way at elections. Let all save their money and not take it to the movies and buy nice clothes. They need not suffer. One of the ex-soldiers says that Germany was good when he was there, and willfully the country suffered now worse than when the war was on. France is taking everything away from them, as for cows, when they could get milk for the children.

And talk about the French daughters in last night's paper. I heard an old honored vet, hero of three wars, say he did not respect France enough to learn their language and the girls most of them are immoral. Why did not civilize these countries while we were at it? I don't think our soldiers are left to suffer.

Local Legion Paves Way for National Movement

"Every proper effort is being made to surround Grover C. Bergdall."

This is the reply that the Janesville post of the American Legion received this afternoon from the war department in answer to the letter of commandant, movement, according to information coming to reach the legion here. Telegrams from all over Wisconsin are pouring into Washington, it is said. Illinois is now taking up the campaign.

Rockford is the latest place to consider the matter. The writer to Grover C. Bergdall will be apprised.

It is believed that every effort is being made to apprehend this individual.

This answer is not considered adequate by the executive officers of the legion, according to Dr. Leigh J. Woodworth, commander. The efforts to prosecute Bergdall will be decided at its next meeting on Tuesday. Commander Eddon of that post declared that "Bergdall is just as much a traitor to our country today as when he refused to take arms and shunned the flag in 1917." This could be the German reply for the action of our soldiers in attempting to capture the Philadelphian.

"Get Bergdall" is the cry of the legion posts taking up the ex-service men's lead.

And I saw...
That Father stayed at home a lot more than he used to.

That he talked more.

That he never thundered—I mean to stern and uncompromising to Cousin Grace the way he used to to Aunt Jane.

That he smiled more.

That he wasn't so absent minded at meals and other times, but seemed to know where we were there—Cousin Grace and I.

That he actually asked Cousin Grace and me to play for him several times.

That he went with us to the Sunday School picnic. (I never saw Father at a picnic before, and I don't believe he ever saw himself at one.)

That—oh, I don't know, but a whole lot of little things I can't remember; but they were all unmistakable. And I wondered, when I saw it all, that I had been as blind as a bat before.

Of course, I was glad—glad he's going to marry her. I mean, I was glad for everybody; for Father and Cousin Grace, for they would be happy, of course, and he wouldn't be lonesome any more. And I was glad for Mother, because I knew she'd be glad that he'd at last found the good kind woman to make a home for him.

And, of course, I was glad for myself, for I'm much rather have Cousin Grace here than Aunt Jane, and I knew she'd make the best new mother of any of them. And, last but not least, I'm glad for the book, because now I've got a lot to say sure. That is, I've prepared a lot. Of course, it may not be, but I think it is.

When I wrote Mother I told her all about it—those signs and symptoms. I mean, how different and thawed-out Father was; and I asked if she didn't think it was so, too. But she didn't answer that part. She didn't write much, anyway; but she said she had had headache and didn't feel at all well. So that was the reason, probably, why she didn't say more—about Father's love affair, I mean. She only said she was glad, she was sure, if Father had found an estimable woman to make a home for him, and she hoped they'd be happy. Then she went on talking about something else. And she didn't write much more, anyway, about anything.

August.

Well, of all the topsy-turvy worlds, this is the topsy-turvyest. I am sure, what do they want me to do, and which do they want me to do? Oh, I wish I was just a plain Susie or Betty, and not a cross-tempered girl with a contradiction with a father that wants me to be one thing and a mother that wants me to be another!

I was bad enough, before, when Father wanted me to be Mary, and Mother wanted me to be Marie. But now—

Well, to begin at the beginning.

It's all over—the love story. I mean, and I know now why it's been so hard for me to remember to be Mary and why everything is different and now.

They don't want me to be Mary.

And now I don't know what to do. If Mother's going to want me to be Mary, and Father's going to want me to be Marie, how am I going to know what anybody wants, ever? This was getting to be such a delightful love story—Father and Cousin Grace. And now—

But tell me tell you what happened.

It was last night. We were in the plazza, Father, Cousin Grace, and I. And I was thinking how perfectly lovely it was that Father was there, and that he was going to be so nice and fatherly, and how I did hope it would last, even after he'd married her, and not have any of that incompatibility stuff come into it. Well, just as she got up and went into the house, for something—Cousin Grace I mean—and all of sudden I determined to tell Father, how glad I was, about him and Cousin Grace, and how I hoped it would last—having them with us, and all that. And I told him.

I don't remember what I said exactly. But I know I hurried on and said it fast, so as to get it all in before he interrupted; for he had interrupted right at the first with an exclamation; and I knew he was going to say more right away, just as soon as he got a chance. And I didn't want him to get a chance to. But I said what I wanted to. But I

Gas Buggies—The fable of the good reputation.

OLD EZRA, MEEMER WAS GENTLE AND MILD. EVERYONE LIKED HIM UNTIL A CHILD AS THE MOST CAUTIOUS DRIVER IN TOWN HE HAD BEEN VOTED THE GOLDEN CROWN

FOR YEARS HE HAD SAFELY CHUGGED AROUND WITHOUT EVEN SCARING A LOUSY HOUND, TILL HE STRUCK AN OLD LADY HALF ASLEEP JUST BARELY ENOUGH TO CAUSE HER TO WEEP

DID THE OLD LADY EXPRESS HER REGRET AND TAKE ALL THE BLAME FOR THE WAY THEY MET AND SAID ALL THE SORDID THINGS WE COULD SAY

AND WHEN SHE HAD FINISHED HER LITTLE TALE SHE BLAMED HIM FOR CAUSING ALL THE STRIFE. SHE HAD HIM DRAGGED INTO COURT RIGHT AWAY

AND TELL ALL THE SORDID THINGS SHE COULD SAY

AND I SAY, EZRA MEEMER ONCE KNOWN AS MILD IS ALWAYS REFERRED TO AS CRAZY AND WILD.

THE SAD PART OF THIS IS NOT THAT IT'S TRUE BUT YOU DO THE SAME IF IT HAPPENED TO YOU

OH DADDY HE'S ROBBED ME!

STARS WIN 19TH VICTORY; BUMP VISITORS, 35-17

Janesville All-Stars annexed their nineteenth victory of the season Wednesday night when they took the Fulton team into camp at the YMCA, a score, 35 to 17. A fast short passing game plus a smattering of long shots overcame any chances the visitors had.

Playing for the first time since he had broken his nose two weeks ago, Hager of the Stars dumped in 10 field goals. The home game was played consistently by Fuehrer who ensured two baskets through the line. While Beck played a good passing game for the Stars, he was forced to retire because of illness, Grassman taking his position at forward.

Orefordville Saturday.

Many plays of the Stars were broken by the snappy work of Savo of Fulton, who caged three baskets in addition. Cornish, who relieved Beach for forward for Fulton, broke loose in the last moments of play with a trio of goals.

Wednesday night the locals play Orefordville here. After Feb. 12, the Stars have open dates and are looking for games. Get in touch with "Ted" Haaser or Manager Beck.
